volume 7

As a mirror reflects one's smiles of joy, expressions of wonder, and frowns of thought, as well as one's tears of disappointment — a level not quite achieved, a contest not won—so the Mirror reflects the emotions of the Montour students as we prepare ourselves for our future life. However, in this Mirror one can peer deeper and distinguish the causes of these feelings—a formal dance, an English theme, or a Spartan defeat. An image in a mirror lives but a few seconds, only to disappear when the originator moves away; it cannot be recreated. The Mirror retains its images so that we may recall each thrill and disappointment of our teenage years.

Someday we will look into a mirror and see a smile, a frown, or a tear upon our faces, and, remembering the Mirror that reflected this same image, we will relive our high school days.

Every year the school board members face the complex problems inherent in the normal operations of a large school district. Separate committees thoroughly study and discuss each issue and then present their conclusions for consideration by the entire board. Every decision that the board makes is for the common benefit and in the best interests of the entire school system.

Finances, personnel, supplies, building upkeep — all of these items and many others pass through the committees' hands each month. The decisions of the board are carried out with decisiveness and speed. The result of the members' hard work and dedication is evident in the smooth operation of the Montour schools.

We recognize the authority and responsibility that the members of the Board of Education must carry; we owe them a debt of gratitude.

MR. RAYMOND McCULLOUGH

Many students fail to realize the tremendous responsibilities and duties of one who is the supervisor of all of the Montour schools. We are indeed fortunate to have so outstanding an educator as Mr. McCullough in this position. The fact that the students hear nothing of the difficulties of this position is a tribute to the skill of Mr. McCullough.

MR. LYNN HAYES

One of the mainstays of the Montour school system, Mr. Hayes is devoting his efforts to the growth and progress of our school. His goal is a smooth running school with the fullest opportunities for each student. Through his dedicated efforts we are achieving this aim.

MR. HAROLD PHELPS

Because of his matchless dedication and his sincere concern for the welfare of the entire student body, Mr. Phelps is both admired and respected by everyone at Montour. His firm yet quiet manner inspires loyalty and confidence. Almost from the moment students enter our school, they become aware of our principal's effective but unobtrusive influence upon us all.

MR. WILLIAM KEARNS

The job of a vice-principal requires compatability, firmness, devotion, and competence. By his capable handling of every situation and his interest in student activities, whether they be social functions or athletic events, Mr. Kearns has established beyond a doubt that he is a vital member of our administration.

By studying the talents and interests of Montour students, the counselors contribute invaluable advice in planning these students' futures. Through personal interviews and standard testing programs which define a student's abilities, the counselors learn what qualifications each student possesses and, because of their close contact with colleges and universities across the nation, are able to provide ready information concerning college admissions. In the guidance office commercial students also find help in choosing a position in the business world. With the aid of Mr. Kasich, Mrs. Morrow, and Mr. Sullivan, Montour students can step firmly into this changing world.

The library facilities provided here are indeed an asset. The quiet, studious atmosphere makes students feel even more aware of the importance of their academic responsibilities. With the guidance of Mrs. Beck, our conscientious librarian, students learn the fundamental library skills. She is ably assisted by student librarians who work diligently to run to library smoothly and efficiently. Periodicals of all sorts are on display in the magazine corner, and books of almost any type are available, including science, the classics, fiction, biography, and encyclopedia. The library also includes a special section reserved for teachers' use.

The object of art classes this year was to lead the pupils to a desire to create. Mrs. Fresa, seeking to cultivate originality and individual expression, used self-direction and self-evaluation to achieve this goal. By working with such materials as papier-maché, enameling, leather tooling, and oil paints, the pupils found the opportunity to explore many media. The basis for many careers, art helps future engineers, architects, and commercial artists.

"But I have to wear this blouse tomorrow!"

In the special art classes, aspiring artists had an opportunity to develop their talents in many areas. They chose projects and learned from experience. Together they transformed the art room into a "Congo Safari." The students developed the project with its many exciting possibilities for diversion into an unparalleled display of their talents.

The purpose of the shop course is to teach the young men to utilize their mechanical abilities to the fullest extent.

There are three main divisions in the department: metal shop, general shop, and wood shop. Also included is mechanical drawing. Beginning classes in wood, metal, and drafting are required of every boy, but advanced classes are also available. This course is of benefit to all Montour boys, for the ability to use their hands is invaluable.

home economics

Our home economics department this year approached instruction from a new point of view. Besides providing obvious benefits such as skill in cooking and sewing, the home economics department tried to instill in the girls a sense of responsibility and familiarity with the etiquette expected in the modern world.

The aim of the music department this year was not only the "how" of music but also the "why"—to help the student appreciate music and express his own individuality through music.

The choir presented outstanding productions this year, including a varied Christmas program in which they provided the background for a narrative of the Nativity story. In the Spring Concert a modern cantata with exciting text focused attention on the dramatic abilities of the choir.

The band engaged in many activities, including a spring concert, various festivals, and, of course, half-time shows at each football game. Through teamwork and talent the band has brought high esteem to Montour.

physical education

With the new emphasis on physical education, the girls' gym instructors increased athletic activities. The girls engaged in field hockey, basketball, volleyball, and softball. The winter months were also devoted to various routines designed to give the girls the proper exercise when outdoor sports were impractical. These sports, combined with tumbling and exercises, served to give the girls at Montour a well rounded schedule of physical activities and a true feeling of good sportsmanship.

ROBERT PHILLIPS

In accordance with the current national physical fitness program, our athletics staff endorsed vigorous activities. Outdoors, boys participated in touch football and softball, while they devoted the winter months to basketball, volleyball, and tumbling. The gym classes also spent a portion of the time in using the various apparatus. Through exercise and hard work, Montour boys developed a spirit of competition and good sportsmanship, which was reflected in individuals and in the school as a whole.

In line with modern world emphasis on mathematics, Montour encourages this vital subject in all courses. For academic students, the four years of specialized math serve not only as college preparation, but also as a foundation in the ability to reason. In the commercial and general courses, practical math gives the student a sound basis for all of the business mathematics he will subsequently study.

In algebra, geometry, and trigonometry classes, students learn not only the fundamentals of each course, but also their practical applications in this age of science and math. As the Space Age grows, the need for mathematicians grows, too. When college bound seniors leave Montour, they are secure in the knowledge that they are well prepared for this world.

The wide scope of the Mirror focuses on the English department. By constantly using their language in writing, speaking, and reading, students learn to employ English effectively.

In keeping with the modern trend of education, many of our English instructors this year incorporated new methods into their teaching. Students proceeded at their own pace by using programmed instruction geared to that purpose. It was the aim of senior English to prepare college bound students by concentrating on supplementary facts needed by college freshmen. Commercial English sought to give the student a thorough knowledge of the rigidly grammatical English required in the business world.

Through public speaking classes individuals learned to speak and express themselves with clarity and confidence.

Once again Mr. Kearns conducted the advanced English course. Similar to college English courses, these classes served to prepare seniors for the theme writing, research work, and vocabulary which they will encounter as college students. A portion of this class was devoted to the discussion of choosing appropriate colleges and the methods of application to those colleges.

The Montour language department offers three foreign languages. Latin brings us an appreciation of the ancient Roman people, their language, and their customs. A very beautiful language and a very useful one, it provides an essential background to the type of learning and experience indicative of a truly cultured person. The colorful languages of French and Spanish complete the courses offered at Montour. As our world shrinks, the knowledge of foreign languages becomes less an asset and more a necessity.

"Car 54, where are you?"

New methods of teaching the foreign languages were used this year. Tape recordings offered the student the language as it sounds in its native land, while flash cards impressed the visual picture. Because drill is invaluable in keeping pace with changes, rapid questions were put to the student to acquaint him with the art of foreign conversation.

social studies

United States history is a course required of all juniors. Along with developing accurate concepts of the exploration and colonization of America, the formation of the Constitution, the contributions of past Americans, and the role of Americans in the world of today, the teachers attempt to instill in the students a pride in their country that will make them better citizens.

The senior history course, Problems of Democracy, sets its real goal at helping students become more aware of their privileges, rights, and responsibilities as future citizens.

World Culture, the sophomore history course, gives students a glimpse into the future. By educating the students in cultures, religions, and problems of the Old World, the teachers hope to provide a possible solution for the problems of today.

All freshmen are required to take one semester of Pennsylvania history and one of civics, courses in which the teachers lead students to an insight into the history and the problems of the Commonwealth. By doing this they hope to give their students a background for accepting their places as citizens and their responsibilities in a dynamic democracy.

Research was the key word in science this year. Teachers worked not only to acquaint the students with the basic facts found in the textbooks, but also to develop in each pupil an inquisitive outlook upon science. In general science there can be no specialization. Designed to be an introduction to the various divisions in science, it is a foundation on which the more specialized courses build.

The typing courses are designed to acquaint students with the mechanics of typing. Advanced work ranging from manuscripts to tabulated drills is included in the second year schedule. After completing shorthand, Montour secretaries are very competent. The possession of these skills combined with knowledge gained in office practice makes them an asset to the business world and enables them to look forward to rewarding careers after graduation.

There are many people who contribute their time and talents to the good of our school but receive little recognition for their work. The ladies of the cafeteria staff under the head dietitian, Mrs. Phillips; Mrs. Rogers, the school nurse; the secretaries, Mrs. Justice, Mrs. McEwen, and Mrs. Cruise; Steve Lesko and Charles Burianek, the janitors; the bus drivers; and Mrs. Wier, our school traffic police woman, work constantly to keep Montour a school at the very peak of efficiency. We owe them a debt of gratitude.

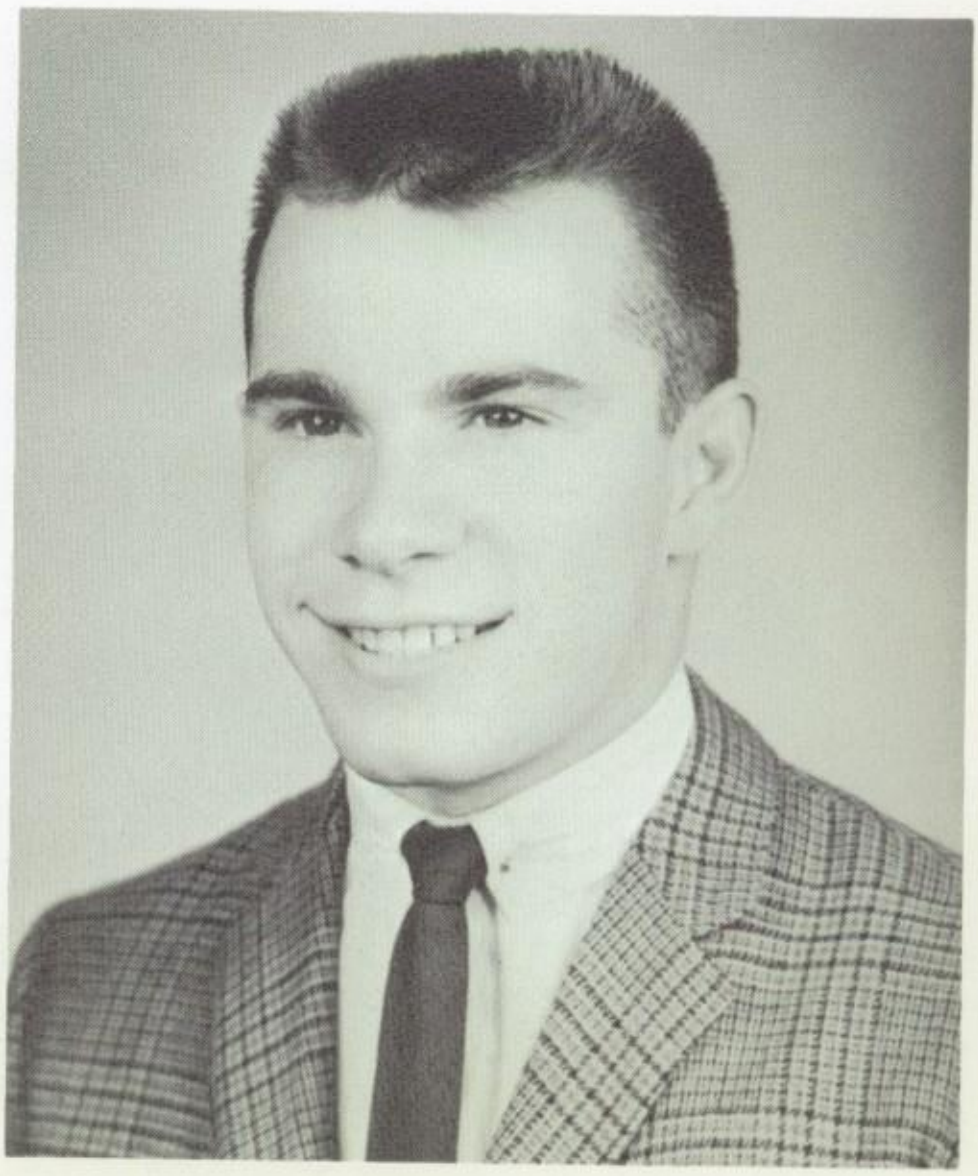
In their last year at Montour, the seniors were the responsibility of the senior homeroom teachers every morning and afternoon. Our seniors, notorious disturbers of the peace, were so well supervised that noise and humor were kept to a reasonable minimum. The morning report periods called for devotions and study to begin each day, while only a brief attendance was in order before dismissal. Mrs. Simpson, Miss Gentille, Mrs. Pock, Mrs. Gruber, Mr. Flynn and Mr. Connor were very valuable influences on us in our last year at Montour.



JEFFREY SUTHERLAND

As we leave Montour, we will remember our friend, Jeff Sutherland. Due to an unfortunate accident while participating as a junior in a varsity wrestling meet, Jeff was partially paralyzed even after several operations. In his senior year Jeff enrolled at Schenley High School. There he will be graduated in the spring. Although his accident took him away from our school, we will never forget Jeff with his ready smile, his ease with people, and his kindness to everyone.

After a period of rigorous pre-season training, the Montour eleven battled their way through a tough nine-game schedule to an undefeated season. Team effort and fine coaching resulted in the capture of the coveted Big Ten Trophy. Blocking and speed on offense enabled the team to score 44 touchdowns while crushing tackles held the opposition to only 11 touchdowns. Dan Sella and Tom Havern served as captains for the entire season. The whole squad displayed ability and spirit rare in high school football; several players received special recognition for their fine

Tom Havern was awarded the Curbstone Coaches' Student-Athlete Award. Among those awarded positions on the Big Ten All-Star Team were Andy Kutzavitch, Jim Rogers, Dan Sella, Wally Abran, and Tom Havern.

Contributing heavily to this fine season was Dan Sella's record-breaking achievement — 108 points through 18 touchdowns.

Teams of Section IX-A of the WPIAL this year provided rugged competition for the Montour Varsity basketball squad. Although the 1962-63 eason produced a 14-7 overall record, six of these defeats came from league opponents. An evenly balanced section led to many close games; four Montour defeats were totaled by only eight points.

Speed and accurate shooting told their opponents that the Montour cagers were one of the toughest teams of the district.

Coach Russo is to be complimented for producing a fine, hustling team of which our school should be proud.

Junior Varsity Coach Leo Prostko again developed an underclassman team superior to all in a tough schedule. Sharp-shooting offense; a determined, alert defense; and all-round hustle enabled them to cover a rugged twenty-game schedule with only two defeats. Judging from their 1962-63 record, the Junior Varsity team should enjoy a successful season next year. Long hours of practice and scrimmaging against the Varsity gave invaluable experience to the younger boys and stiff competition to the Varsity.

Montour, under the tutelege of Coaches Birko and Katshir, again captured the section or conference crown of the WPIAL. This title has been in the hands of the Montour nine for the last five straight years. While accomplishing this feat, they have compiled a record of 66 victories and 6 defeats. The 1962 season proved to be our best season as Montour ended with 15 wins while losing only to Ellwood City in the WPIAL semi-final playoffs. This loss in the playoffs came after winning three games from Stowe, New Brighton, and Bethel.

With five returning lettermen the Montour golf team enters its third season. During the 1962 season George Kelley achieved the distinction of representing the Spartans in the WPIAL individual tournament at Green Oaks Country Club. George's playing was a credit to the team. Our golfers practice hard at the Coraopolis Heights Golf Course, and the games are held at Chartiers Country Club Course. With hard work our team should make a fine showing again this year.

Newly organized this year as a girls' varsity sport was the field hockey team. Sixteen girls with Leslie McFarland as captain tried their best to win. Although no one expected the new team to have a winning season, they practiced continuously until they finally defeated an established Avonworth team. Under the direction of Miss Condo, Miss Shearn, and Mrs. Morrow, the girls made an excellent showing for Montour. In a few years we expect Montour to have groomed one of the best hockey teams in the district.

Like the girls' hockey team, the girls' varsity basketball team is new this year. Try-outs for the team were held in November and the seventeen girls who were chosen settled into a schedule of two or three practice sessions a week plus the games. Since the team was very inexperienced, Miss Condo and Miss Shearn, the coaches, were pleased and gratified when the girls terminated the season with a fine record.

It takes a great deal of work to turn out a yearbook but the '63 Mirror staff, with the help of Mrs. Simpson, was equal to the task. The Montour Monitor has made many revisions in the scope of its publication, chief of which was the increased number of issues. For the first time in Montour history the Spartans purchased papers every month. The cherished plans of the Monitor this year were to join the Quill and Scroll and to win the prized Pitt award for school newspapers. The Mirror wishes Miss Naves and her staff continued success with their journalistic enterprise.

The Junior Classical League, aiming to promote an appreciation of the civilization, the language, and the literature of Roman culture, has again been a very active club. After midterm, the Latin I students with an average of "B" or better were initiated into the JCL. The club held a Roman banquet and sent a delegate to the state convention. Credit must be given to Mr. Berg, the new sponsor, and Dean Morrow, president, for keeping our chapter of this national organization a thriving club.

Miss Murdaca, in her second year as sponsor of Le Cercle Francais, tried to impress upon the members the importance of a knowledge of the French people as well as a knowledge of the language they speak. In line with this objective the club had a Christmas party with French skits and food. A French banquet offered food and setting in typical French style. Their new pins will provide the members a lasting memory of their club.

The Spanish Club was a highly active organization. In order to acquaint the members of the club with the customs and the habits of Spanish speaking countries, they tried to emulate the Spanish people with their annual Christmas pinata party and their spring dance. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Hattman, the club has succeeded in its aim of teaching the members the value of a Spanish culture. "Los Buenos Vecinos", the good neighbors, have indeed climaxed a very successful year.

In the hall, in English themes, and at football games one of the most popular topics this fall was Montour's "marching millions." This affectionate title was given to one of the largest and most vital units of Montour, the band. Even those fans who couldn't keep time gazed with pride as our band took the football field at halftime.

The football season, however, is only a part of the band's busy schedule. Concerts, festivals, and parades were among the other activities. This very close unit displays a quiet and sincere devotion to its conductor, Mr. Picchi. Under his direction we are assured that in what ever our band may participate, they will represent us well.

Seated: Terri Stinner, Librarian; Amy Seibert, Treasurer; Kathy Liguori, Secretary; Beverly Leydig, Assistant Librarian; Judy Mathews, Assistant Publicity.

KAREN SKIRPAN

One of the most loyal and spirited groups at Montour is the Pep Band. This small group of band members deserve a great deal of praise for their efforts to arouse the spirit of the fans and the players during football season. Although they were again this year an essential part of the pep assemblies, they were content to remain modestly in the background because they knew that they were contributing something to the good not only of the team, but also of the whole school. The Mirror recognizes a job well done and offers praise well deserved.

With the spirit and assurance that stems from conscientious practice, the Majorettes marched through their routines at football games. Flag batons and dashing new uniforms helped give the Majorettes that special sparkle that is so characteristic of them. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Picchi and with the help of Head Majorette Holly McCready and Band Head Karen Skirpan, they have earned an impressive reputation.

SANDI GORNIC

Many hours of practice combined with the dedication of every girl have made the Spartanettes an organization effective and charming. The girls looked very smart in their new white and gold uniforms as they performed routines at football games with sharp precision. Under the leadership of Head Spartanette Sandy Gornic and sponsor Miss Gentille, the group has been a credit to Montour.

Our cheerleaders, every year among the best in Allegheny County, this year were unsurpassed in enthusiasm and pep. Their drive for perfection coupled with their pride in cheering for our fine Spartan teams gave these girls the confidence and spirit needed to arouse the cheers of the athletic crowds. Their year began in July when a rigorous week at camp was followed by session after session of practice. Under the leadership of Peggy Brammer and the guidance of Mrs. Morrow, the cheerleaders of '63 have done an outstanding job for Montour.

The newly-formed Pep Club has been a source of inspiration to Montour High. Their enthusiasm has done much to bolster school spirit. At home football games they introduced a card section. Meetings with cheerleaders enabled the girls to learn the cheers to that they could support the team at the games and at pep assemblies. A vote of gratitude is due to Judy DeArdo, president; Mrs. Morrow, sponsor; and the other officers for making this club one of the most successful organizations Montour has ever had.

The newest organization at Montour is the High School Red Cross. For a new club it has very important plans for service to others, not only to visit hospitals to observe the Red Cross in action, but also to give parties for elderly persons in these hospitals. Their major project was the filling of disaster kits for use in extreme emergencies. Mr. Pantuso, Mr. Miller, and president Paul Nolan have high hopes for the complete success of a very fine organization.

The Girls' Athletic Association continues to be one of the largest and most successful organizations in the school. In this club girls actively participate in sports of all kinds. Under the supervision of Miss Shearn, the girls play volleyball in the fall, basketball and bowling in the winter, and softball in the spring. The club scheduled many activities, such as the student-faculty basketball game and the free-throw contest. The G.A.A. instills sportsmanship, leadership, and team play in all of its participants.

This year the Montour choir with a membership of 120 students was the largest vocal group in the history of the school. Under the direction of Mrs. Essex, the new choir director, the chorus learned the mechanics of music and the fine points of singing. In December the choir presented its annual Christmas program. Highlighting the evening was the Christmas Choralogue with Bob Hannahan as the narrator. Among the songs especially well received which the choir sang for its Spring Concert in April were "Everything's Coming Up Roses" and "Moon River."

Standing: Kathleen Condo, Treasurer; Judy Breedlove, Historian; Nancy Englert, Vice President; Cynthia Magella, President; Lilly Imberg, Secretary. Seated: Mrs. Prince, Sponsor; Barbara Harrington, Parliamentarian; Judy Adamson, Jr. Advisor; Sandra French, Vice President.

As one of the largest organizations at Montour, the Future Homemakers cast an impressive shadow in regard to their activities. One of the most important and most popular of the activities is the initiation. This year a very worthwhile activity was the trip of several girls to Harrisburg to attend the farm show. As is true of everyone, FHA members earn money to finance their ventures, and this they accomplished by selling candy and sponsoring a dance. Mrs. Flynn and Mrs. Prince supervised the smooth functioning of the group, emphasized the pleasant future of homemakers.

Row 4: Carolyn Morgan, Barb Supinka, Becky Parrish, Carol Kropf, Diane Agner, Carol Porter, Laverne Walz, Sandy Barlow, Beverly Brady, Hazel Tippin, Claire Ruprecht.

Mrs. Mary Rogers again sponsored the Future Nurses of America. Every member having been active in the club, the FNA has made great strides toward achieving their goals. Near Christmas, the girls held a party for some of the patients of John J. Kane Hospital. Many of the girls served as volunteer helpers in hospitals. The FNA is one of the newest clubs at Montour, but its influence has spread throughout the school, and the members of this organization may truly be proud of their achievements.

Barbara Spine, Secretary; Leslie McFarland, Vice President; Jim Rogers, President; Dick Morrison, Treasurer.

The National Honor Society is one of the most efficient and respected clubs at Montour. The very membership is so competitive that the honor of being accepted influences each member to work with extra enthusiasm for the few but vital activities that the NHS sponsors. The most important of these functions is the initiation which takes place in November. This assembly is one of the most impressive and exciting of the whole school year. Concerned not only with scholarship, the NHS also sells football ribbons to further the school spirit of the Spartans.

For all those who feel that teaching will be the most rewarding occupation for them, the Future Teachers offer the company of friends who share this desire and are willing to work for projects which help education in any way. This very admirable ambition was illustrated by their selling of Stanley products for the scholarship fund. All the group activities were held with the thought that the money earned would help to further the education of a Montour student. Mr. Marko's future teachers are an earnest, dedicated group — an integral part of our school and the profession of education.

Of all of the clubs at Montour, the one that stresses most harmony and friendship is the Future Leaders. This is evidenced in the bowling league that it sponsored. The boys really enjoyed the sport that helped them to know one another better. In the line of service to others, the boys sponsored a "Toys for Tots" drive last winter. They also held a dance to help finance these activities. Mr. Leff can be proud that his leaders, with service in mind, will soon be leaders in the adult world.

A club which is rapidly gaining the full respect of the faculty and student body is the Student Council. Mr. Kosmacki and Mrs. Henderson have spent a great deal of time in grooming the leaders of this, which is potentially a powerful influence on the Montour student body. Perhaps the most important undertaking of the year was the sponsoring of a foreign exchange student from Brazil. From anyone who knows Clarisse, you will hear nothing but praise of the program and the club responsible for bringing her to us.

Clarisse Thurmann, our first foreign exchange student, has given us more than we can ever hope to repay, for she is leaving us a part of herself. No one who came to know Clarisse will ever forget her. With her ready smile, her friendliness, and her desire to learn, she gave to the faculty and student body of Montour a better understanding and a warm feeling toward all future students. We hope Clarisse will remember with pleasure her days with us, for surely we have benefited immeasurably from her presence.

The purpose of the Future Business Leaders of America is to prepare business students for the world which they will soon face. To achieve this goal, the club intends by the end of the year to have taken a field trip to either a business school or a business office. Here the students will observe first-hand what their future will entail. To help to further the education of one deserving business student, the club has established a scholarship fund. The major fund-project of the year was the sale of school pins.

EDWARDS BROTHERS, INC.
Ann Arbor, Michigan

Friends of my youth, a last adieu!
happily some day we meet again;
Yet ne'er the selfsame men shall meet;
the years shall make us other men.
